

Rewriting

the History of Science & Philosophy in Late Colonial India

Part 2 in the 2014 Lecture Series, Centuries of Dialogue: Asia and the West

Dhruv Raina, Professor of History and Philosophy of Science and Education, Honorary Director, Indian Council for Social Science Research, Northern Regional Centre at Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi

How did Indian intellectuals receive and respond to Western notions of the histories of philosophy and science in the late 19th and early 20th centuries?

How did Indian intellectuals attempt to reconstruct the history of their own tradition?

Thursday, October 2, 2014 7 PM

KTS Lecture Hall, New Academic Building, University of King's College, 6350 Coburg Rd, Halifax

www.UKings.ca

Free Public Event. Reception to follow.

Watch Live!

www.CosmoLocal.org